CAT COUNTRY 98.1 WCTK-FM TO HOST A FATHER/DAUGHTER DANCE IN CRANSTON, STARRING SCOTTY MCCREERY

Cranston, RI – September 27th - On the heels of the recent decision to ban all father-daughter dances and mother-son ballgames in the city of Cranston, the local country radio station, Cat Country 98.1 WCTK-FM, will host its own father/daughter dance on Thursday, November 15th from 6pm to 9pm at the Rhodes on the Pawtuxet in Cranston, RI. The 'Sadie Hawkins' dance, which will be open to all girls grades 1 through 6 who attend a Cranston Public Elementary School, will include a performance by the National Country Music Star and American Idol winner, Scotty McCreery.

“We have received an influx of calls and emails from our listeners, who are emotionally charged over this ruling,” said WCTK Program Director, Bob Walker. “We sympathize with the residents of Cranston, who feel that they have been deprived of this time-honored tradition. Cat Country 98.1 is deeply rooted in the lives of the community, and we wanted to use our available resources to ease the frustration felt by the Superintendent’s decision.”

Chaperones for this dance is open to any adult (18+) in the student’s life – fathers, mothers, grandparents, aunts, uncles, etc. Tickets will be sold to capacity at $10 per person (includes ticketing fees). Attendees are encouraged to dress in semi-formal attire. Net proceeds from this event will benefit the Big Brothers & Big Sisters of the Ocean State, based in Cranston, RI.

Tickets will go on-sale beginning Thursday, October 4th at 10am. To purchase tickets, please call City Tickets at (401) 421-4600 or online at cityticketonline.com.
