Envision Networks® Spook-tacular Specials Go Global
Halloween Specials Shared Overseas With Military and Civil Service Members

(October 2019) – The American Forces Network is getting spooky this Halloween with Envision Networks® Chop Shop 16th Annual Halloween Special and the Wolfman Jack Halloween Party. The specials will reach over 400,000 American active military, Department of Defense civilians and their families overseas.

“AFN Radio is proud to partner with Envision Networks to bring a spooky touch of home for those U.S. Military members and their families serving so far from home,” said Scott Stover, Chief of Radio for the American Forces Network.

The Chop Shop 16th Annual Halloween Special
“Count Blackula,” (AKA, Rock radio royalty, Steve Black) guides listeners through 21 musical tales woven together from the bones of the black & white horror films reanimated just for the occasion. Listeners will experience the haunted house of music terror with Ozzy, Volbeat, A Perfect Circle, Ghost, Marilyn Manson, Metallica and the Hollywood Undead.

The Wolfman Jack Halloween Party
Back from beyond the grave Wolfman Jack takes listeners back to Halloweens of the 60s and 70s in one program and entertains newer generations with Classic Hits in another. Featuring the music of the Rocky Horror Picture Show, Warren Zevon, The Eagles, Fleetwood Mac, Charlie Daniels and more, listeners are in for a howling good time with best Halloween party around.
